REMEMBERS GREAT FRENCH CONQUEROR

Aged Russian Soldier Comes to St. Petersburg to Claim Lottery Prize.

St. Petersburg, June 4.—Michael Roudnikoff, who has just arrived in St. Petersburg from Tver to collect a lottery prize of $2500, is one of the most remarkable characters in Russia. He is believed to be more than 125 years old, though he still sees and hears well, and personally looks after affairs on his farm.

Roudnikoff joined the Russian army in 1757, according to records still in existence, and for eighty years he served as a hussar. He was a grown man when Napoleon invaded Russia and remembers many of the stirring incidents in connection with the famous Moscow campaign. He was personally known to General Kutuzoff and was still serving in the days of Nicholas, who also showed him personal marks of his favor.

Roudnikoff won the medals of St. George and forty other medals and crosses of distinction, and two medals for saving life in the course of his long military service. The two chief Russian writers on Napoleon's invasion of Russia learned from him many interesting details of the campaign, of which he has lively recollections.

DEFEATS MEASURE CRITICISING KING

King's Visit to Russia Did Not Meet Approval of Socialist Members.

London, June 4.—In the House of Commons today a motion by the socialists and labor workers condemning King Edward's visit to Russia was defeated by a vote of 235 to 59.

FIND A WOMAN DEAD; EVIDENTLY SUICIDE

Divorced Husband Was Locked up in Jail for Having Fired Her Home at Time of Discovery.

Appleton, Wis., June 4.—The body of Mrs. Minnie Grunert was found in a sitting position in a closet of her home last night. A small cord encircling her neck was attached to a hot rack and had apparently caused strangulation. Paul Krause, from whom Mrs. Grunert was divorced, just evening was placed in jail on the charge of having fired his wife's home. Two hours after Krause was incarcerated the body of his former wife was discovered.

DREYFUS SHOT BUT NOT HURT SERIOUSLY

Zola's Ceremony Scene of Shooting of Former Prisoner of Devils Island.

Paris, June 4.—At the conclusion of the ceremonies this morning in connection with placing the remains of M. Emile Zola in the Pantheon, a member of the staff of the Franco-Militaire, who gave his name as Gregori, fired two shots at Major Alfred Dreyfus and slightly wounded the latter in the hand. The assailant was placed under arrest. Two hundred and sixty arrests have been made up to six this afternoon in connection with the attempt upon the life of Dreyfus.

MUCH INTEREST IN THE COMING BOUT

Malachy Hogan of Chicago Will Referee the Ketchel-Papke Fight Tonight.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 4.—This city is keenly interested in the big fight tonight between Stanley Ketchel and Bill Papke, whose ring achievements during the past year placed them in the front rank in their division.

There have been many notable pugilistic encounters in the Cream City during the past few years, but none has ever aroused more public interest than the battle to be pulled off in the Hippodrome tonight. The Milwaukee Athletic club, under whose auspices the fight is to take place, expects a record-breaking crowd at the ringside. Chicago is sending a big delegation of Papke's friends and numerous other out-of-town points will be represented.

The articles of agreement call for a ten-round fight, the men to weigh in at 125 pounds at 10 o'clock. Malachy Hogan of Chicago has been selected to referee the bout.

Both fighters have been in constant training ever since the match was made. Realizing that the result of the fight will either make or mar their upward stride towards the championship, neither fighter desired to take any chances on condition. Reports from their respective training quarters today are to the effect that both men are in the very best of condition. While both fighters have about an equal number of well wishers, it is a different thing when it comes to the battling. Ketchel rules the favorite, though there appears to be no lack of Papke's admirers ready to take up the bet at the odds offered.

GUBERNATORIAL CONTEST IS VERY HOT IN GEORGIA

Governor Hoke Smith Is Opposed For Re-Election By Joseph M. Brown.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Atlanta, Ga., June 4.—A general primary is being held throughout Georgia today to select delegates to the democratic national convention and to nominate a full state ticket and a candidate for United States senator. Senator Clay is without opposition and though there are contests on in several of the congressional districts it is expected that the majority of the present representatives in congress will be returned. Nearly all of the present state officers are unopposed for reelection, leaving the contest for the gubernatorial nomination the one big fight of the primary.

Contrary to the usual custom there are two candidates for governor this year. Since the constitutional convention in 1877, at which time it was deemed wise to limit the service of governor to four years, each governor has served two terms, except Governor A. H. Stephens, who died in office. There has generally been a lively contest for the honor whenever a vacancy occurred, but it has been an unbroken custom to give the successful candidate a second term without opposition.

But this year Governor Hoke Smith is opposed for re-election by Joseph M. Brown, a son of Joseph Brown, who was war governor of Georgia and for many years afterward United States senator. The son was born in this state about fifty-five years ago and was educated at the University of Georgia and at Harvard. He entered upon a railroad career in 1877, when he entered the freight department of the Western & Atlantic road. Through natural ability he rose rapidly. He became general freight agent in 1881, general freight and passenger agent in 1884 and traffic manager in 1892. In the succeeding nine years he filled various railroad positions of responsibility.

Brown was a member of the state railway commission at the time Hoke Smith was inaugurated governor, and the first official act of the latter after taking the oath of office was to dismiss him. The reason for the dismissal was not made public. Brown's friends declare that it was purely a political move, while the friends of the governor asserted that the dismissal was made for good cause.

Brown declared himself a candidate for governor shortly after his dismissal, and began a quiet "rumor" campaign, with his headquarters in this city. Though he has made no public speeches, he has issued a number of statements and has otherwise pursued a vigorous campaign. Governor Smith, while affecting to belittle the Brown candidacy, has nevertheless been engaged in the fight of his political career. He has exerted himself far more than in the race two years ago, when he was opposed by four candidates. No other governor in the entire history of Georgia ever made so many speeches during his entire term of service as has Mr. Smith up to the present date.

Several issues, such as railroad regulation and the disenfranchisement of the negro, are involved in the gubernatorial contest, but the more absorbing dispute as to the success of and practical feasibility of the prohibition law that was passed by the legislature last summer has overshadowed all else in the campaign.

Governor Smith was originally opposed to prohibition, and advocated local option by counties during the campaign which preceded his election as governor. But when the legislature passed the prohibition law, he signed it promptly, and has since taken vigorous measures for its enforcement. He has made his present campaign for reelection as a strict prohibitionist. He also advocates the disenfranchisement of the negroes by the adoption of a constitutional amendment establishing a property and educational qualification for suffrage. The third plank in his platform is rational railway regulation and a square deal to both the corporations and their patrons.

Brown, in his public statements, has paid little attention to either the race question or the railway question. Prohibition is the one big plank in his platform. He openly accuses Governor Smith of insincerity and of advocating prohibition as a means of getting office. While both candidates advocate prohibition there is one important point of difference between them. Governor Smith has publicly declared that he would veto any legislation repealing or modifying the present statute, except to perfect it as a prohibition measure.

Brown, on the other hand, declares that he is unalterably opposed to the saloon and believes in a strict enforcement of the prohibition law. At the same time he declares the will of the people should be supreme. From this it is understood that he stands ready to accept an amendment to the prohibition law so the people elect a legislature that will pass one.

MORE CATTLE SHIPPED TO FLOWERY KINGDOM

Dr. Suminokura Left Orfordville Today With Valuable Shipment For Japan.

Dr. Yoshimichi Suminokura of Tokyo, Japan, started from Orfordville today on his long journey to Japan with a shipment of Brown Swiss and Jersey cattle. Dr. Suminokura has been at Orfordville for about two weeks visiting at the home of Ira E. Timan and during that time has purchased a number of cattle from Mr. Timan and from H. C. Taylor for his dairy in Tokyo.

This shipment, which is the most valuable ever taken to Japan is the sixth which has been made to the doctor by Orfordville breeders since last September. Dr. Suminokura owns and operates a large dairy in the city of Tokyo which practically supplies milk and butter for the city and where he employs several hundred men.

Dr. Suminokura recently purchased six head of cattle from the Aulen farm at Jerseyville, Ill., paying $500 for one cow and $50 for another. This farm is where all the cattle entered for the St. Louis exposition were kept for a year previous to the exposition.

Dr. W. P. Mills of Milwaukee, Mont.,

a breeder of Jersey and Berkshire cattle who was on his way to the medical convention at Chicago stopped off at Orfordville the other day and purchased a pair, Star Masterpiece Chief, an eight months' old son of Star Masterpiece, the best that sold for $5,500, the highest price ever paid for a pair.

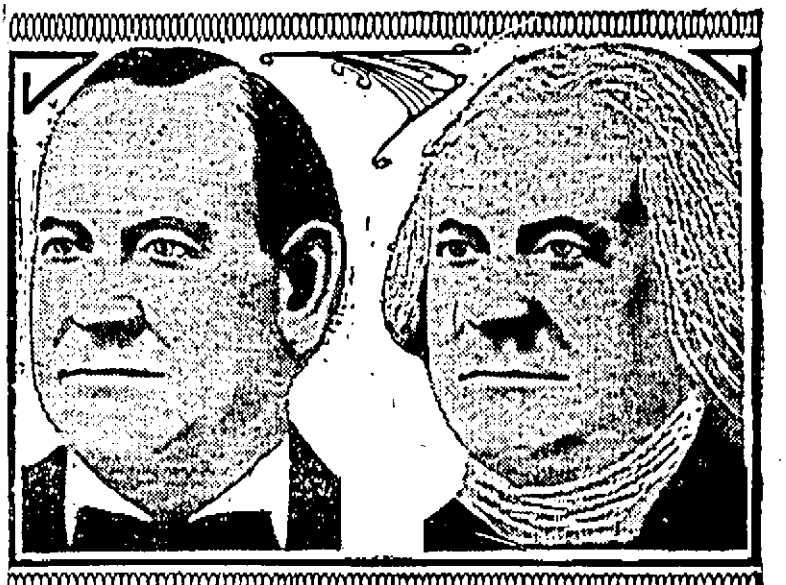

RECEIVES WORD THAT HER BROTHER WAS DROWNED.

Mrs. J. Newcomer of Broadhead Learning of Death of Albert Schneider at Athol, S. D.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Broadhead, June 4.—Mrs. J. Newcomer has received word that her brother, Albert Schneider, of Athol, S. D., was drowned near that city yesterday. He formerly lived in Durand and was well known in Broadhead. He leaves a wife and four children.

THE RESEMBLANCE OF WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN TO GEORGE WASHINGTON.

If William Jennings Bryan is nominated for the presidency at Denver, Washington in powdered wig; second, one of the new campaign arguments of his enemy will be the resemblance of the eminent Nebraska politician to George Washington. It is said that the country will be flooded with postcard folders proving the resemblance between the Democratic Joseph and the Father of the Country. John M. Jones, a New York artist, has taken out a copyright on a special design tending to prove beyond shadow of a doubt this striking resemblance. Artist Jones' device shows three pictures. First, a picture of George Washington in powdered wig; second, a picture of Bryan, third, a picture of the eminent Nebraska politician. When the powdered wig from the face of Washington is fitted over the bearded countenance of Mr. Bryan it is difficult to tell the difference between the duplication and the original. There can be no question that there is a strong facial resemblance between Bryan and Washington; the same eyes, the same nose, the same lines at the mouth and the same strong chin are a common characteristic between them.

EXERCISES TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

CLASS OF FIFTY-SEVEN WILL BE GRADUATED.

CLASS PLAY WEDNESDAY

Graduation Exercises Will Commence on Tuesday Evening and Will be Last Through Wednesday.

Diplomas will be presented to the Senior class of the Janesville high school on next Wednesday evening, at the close of the commencement exercises. The graduation exercises will begin on next Tuesday evening, which has been chosen as class night. The class history, will, poem and prophecy will be given on that evening and at the close of the evening the class took on will be presented by Charlotte Charlton. On Wednesday evening the class play will be presented. The military drama of Barbara Fritchie has been chosen and sixteen members of the class will take part. Thursday evening will be graduation proper and the diplomas will be given out then, and on Thursday evening the annual will enjoy their annual banquet.

The music for the various exercises will be furnished by the high school orchestra, the girls' glee club and the boys' double quartet. The decorating will be done in a large part by the Junior class. The Juniors are taking their final examinations now and as soon as they have finished the active work of decoration will be begun. The auditorium of the school building in which the exercises are to be held will be brilliant with the class colors and with college banners and potted plants.

The class motto will also form an important part of the decorative scheme. The senior class held a meeting this afternoon to decide upon their colors and the class motto.

ARTHUR LEMMERHIRT OUSTED FROM PAPPAS' CANDY STORE

Paid a Fine and Costs Amounting to $6.10 in Municipal Court

This Morning

Arthur Lemmerhirt, a well known young man of pleasant address whose parents are said to reside on Euclid avenue, Holott, after hovering about the mahogany thrift-counters for a longer time than was good for him last evening, visited the Pappas' confectionery store for the purpose of purchasing a cigar. Being in an unreasonable frame of mind, he took exception to the manner in which the management informed him that they did not deal in tobacco. Words were soon followed by action, one of the proprietors forcibly ejecting the tall stranger. In the scuffle Lemmerhirt lost his hat and when he went back after it there was more trouble and the screen door suffered to a certain extent. In municipal court this morning, Lemmerhirt paid a fine and costs amounting to $6.10 for drunkenness.

NEE-CUNNINGHAM WEDDING YESTERDAY

St. Joseph's Catholic Church at Ft. Atkinson Was the Scene of the Nuptials.

St. Joseph's Catholic church in Ft. Atkinson was the scene yesterday morning of the wedding of Miss Katherine Josephine Nee, formerly of Janesville, and James H. Cunningham of Chicago, a brother of Atty. J. J. and Dr. M. A. Cunningham of this city. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Anna Nee, and J. J. Cunningham was best man. Little Hazel Nee, a niece of the bride, was flower girl, and Constance Cunningham, a niece of the groom, was ring-bearer. A gown of white lace over white silk and a large white picture hat were worn by the bride and the bridesmaid was attired in white lace over pink silk. The gifts included many handsome pieces of silver, cut-glass, and china, and five hundred dollars in cash. Following the ceremony and congratulations, a sumptuous four course dinner was served to relatives and friends numbering about one hundred, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Nee, the bride's parents. The happy couple subsequently departed on a month's honeymoon trip which will include visits at Denver and other western cities. They will be at home at their residence on Eggleston avenue, Chicago, after August 1. Janesville people present at the wedding, in addition to those already mentioned were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haggart, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Olson, Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Cunningham, Mrs. Michael Cunningham and daughter, Phoenix, and the Messrs. Elizabeth and Mary Kennedy, Maile and Katherine Crowley, Fannie Dooley and Agnes McNeill.

Raught—Fredricks.

Miss Doll Raught, formerly of this city, and Dr. F. E. Fredricks of Westfield, Wis., were married on May 28th. Miss Raught moved away from home a short time ago and was well known here. Her mother now lives at Marshfield and she has brothers and sisters who still live in Janesville. Local friends extend their congratulations.

ENJOYABLE MEETING HELD ON WEDNESDAY

Local W. C. T. U. Ladies Entertained Visitors from Milton Junction.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union yesterday afternoon entertained the ladies of the Milton Junction union at the pleasant home of Mrs. H. A. Palmer, Forest Park. A very interesting program was given in charge of Mrs. M. C. Dunlop. Topics—The Mother's Greatest Need, Paper—"Obedience," read by Mrs. Morris, Reading—"The Ideal Mother," Mrs. Emma Hild, Paper—"The Arm Around the Boy," Mrs. E. E. Yates. These were all filled with helpful thoughts and advice for the mothers. The thoroughly brought out in the interesting discussion that followed each paper. Miss Marie Gibbs gave a reading that brought forth many strong points in favor of probation. The Palmer sisters gave a pretty duet, "Sowing the Seed," and also a violin and piano number that received well merited applause.

After the program about forty were served with a dainty lunch. Besides the ladies of the Milton Junction union, Mrs. E. E. Yates of Sharon, Wis., Pauline of Brookland, and Mrs. Vio Campbell and Mrs. P. E. Pratt of Janesville were out of the city guests. Two new members were received. The next regular meeting will be held in the parlors of the Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon, June 17.

RIDGE COUNTRY CLUB WANTS TEAM MATCH HERE

Secretary F. M. Baker of the Chicago Organization Writes Local Golfers to That Effect.

F. M. Baker, secretary of the Ridge Country club of Chicago, who has played over the Shinnepink links on several occasions, has written to one of the local golfers to the effect that he and his associates would like to arrange a team match here sometime during the summer. The Janesville players will in all likelihood accommodate them.

Striking Indian Nomenclature

"Anakoka," Clear Sky Land; "Magnetawan," Smooth Flowing Water; "Kawartha," Bright Water and Happy Lands; "Tennacum," Deep Water; "Wawa," the flying geese, are Indian words that fitly describe some of the most delightful spots for a summer outing on the American continent. All reached as much low round trip fares via the Grand Trunk Railway, the Great Northern and the Canadian Pacific System. Double track from Chicago to Montreal and Niagara Falls. Particulars of fares, descriptive literature, time tables, etc., will be mailed free on application to Geo. W. Vaux, A. G. P. & T. A., 135 Adams Street, Chicago.

Judge Back Tomorrow: Judge Grimm did not come down today as the case which was to have been heard today, Sloan vs. Sloan, was settled out of court. He will be here tomorrow, however, for the trial of the case of McGowan vs. Paul.

Tannin for Toothache.

Neuralgia from unsound teeth is very common at Ischl, Austria, and a local dentist has succeeded in discovering a remedy in tannin, which he applies to the gums as a lotion of two parts of tannin acid in ten parts of rectified spirits. Almost every kind of dental pain is relieved, while loose teeth are made tight and given power for mastication.

There is nothing a man of good sense dreads in a wife so much as her having more sense than himself.—Folding.

Mother and Daughter.

A little woman child, a growing girl, is still so much under her mother that to think or speak of the one is to think or speak of the other. And just what the mother is, just that, at all these early stages of her life, at any rate, her daughter is.—Dr. Alexander Whyte.

KING EDWARD'S CIGARS

King Edward has just ordered a fresh supply of 500 cigars from a New York firm, the price for which will be $1,000. This is a shilling higher than he paid for each of the 1,000 cigars ordered from the same firm a couple of years ago, and which took three months in the making.

A cigar expert said: "Three thousand dollars was actually paid by King Edward for 1,000 cigars two years ago, and the margin of profit, even at that price must have been exceedingly small, for the cigars were eight inches in length and at the thickest part in the middle, one inch in diameter."

"They were made of the finest Yucatan tobacco. Each leaf passed through the hands of two selectors and it required the examination of thousands of leaves to obtain those that were uniform in color and size. The time consumed and the expense incurred were in the selection of the leaf, in using gold leaf to initial each cigar, and encasing them in separate silk envelopes. "So far as the actual quality of the cigars was concerned, they were no better than those smoked by many wealthy men. The 500 cigars have now been ordered will have thin bands of gold on them, but they will not be wrapped in silk. They will be made from leaf which has been seasoned for three or four years, and will be manufactured from the upper half of the leaf only as that part is said to contain the most fragrance and aroma."

The king is a heavy smoker, his affections vacillating between a big cigar and a short briar-root pipe, which he always carries about with him, but smokes only in the society of his intimate friends. The only European monarch who favors cigars to any thing like the same extent as King Edward, is he of Belgium; but the late King Carlos smoked more cigars than either of them, and his were of Portuguese make.

Obedience to Duty.

The sphere of duty is infinite. It exists in every station of life. We have it not in our choice to be rich or poor, to be happy or unhappy; but it becomes us to do the duty that every where surrounds us. Obedience to duty, at all costs and risks, is the very essence of the highest civilized life. Great deeds must be worked for, hoped for, died for, now as in the past.

In Praise of Good Nature.

Good nature is worth more than knowledge, more than money, to the persons who possess it, and certainly to everybody who dwells with them, in so far as mere happiness is concerned.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Truly Beautiful Life.

A life need not be great to be beautiful. There may be as much beauty in a tiny flower as in a majestic tree, in a little gem as in a great mountain. A beautiful life is one that fulfills its mission—that is what God made it to be; and does what God made it to do.—J. R. Miller.

Mrs. Ferdinand Potthoff died last night at her home at 353 Western Ave. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband and two daughters, Mrs. Mae Grundy and Mrs. John Starke. Notices of the funeral will be given later.

Mrs. August Bluhm.

Mrs. August Bluhm died this morning at nine-thirty at her home at 8 East-ern Ave. She leaves to mourn her loss two sons and four grandchildren. The sons are Ernest and Paul of this city. Mrs. Bluhm was an old resident of Janesville. She came to this country from Germany in 1881 and settled at Jefferson first, moving to Janesville a short time afterwards where she has lived since.

Notice of the funeral will be given later.

The Merry Whirl.

"There goes little Johnnie Blenheim," said the fourth-floor woman, leaning on a cushion on the window sill, "trailing hoop with his mother's Merry Whirl and for de hoop and his father's gold-headed cane, what the Verhunderen give him for de sick. It'll be funny when Johnnie's peoples comes from de market, yes."

Large French Family.

The largest family in Paris has eight sons and five daughters living and three children dead. The eldest son applied the other day for exemption from military service. In granting his request the authorities exhorted him to help his father in the arduous task of rearing such a numerous progeny.

THE WATCH AS A GRADUATION PRESENT.

At the present time nearly every one carries a watch—it may be an Ingersoll or it may be a Howard—a watch it is and carried not for show but for use. The first few years of our lifetime we are considered too young and lacking in judgment to carry such a valuable article. At the age of 16 this point in life has been passed. This being so, why is this not the time to see that the young lady or young man receives a watch for a graduation or birthday present? If you do not feel like buying it yourself, why not the members of the family club together and purchase that article which, with good care, will last a lifetime? We have sold a number this year for this purpose and why not think this over and ask us to show you the standard makes with the low prices we are quoting for good reliable timepieces.

The Second Week of Our Annual House Cleaning Sale of Rugs, Carpets, Linoleum, Matting and Curtains

Draws to a Close Saturday, June 6th.

People have had no fault to find. We have lived up to all advertised statements, and the rugs, carpets and curtains sold thus far would make an immense showing could they be seen in one lot.

Such a run on any ordinary stock would make it look pretty thin. It takes more than a few days' selling to make serious inroads on such stocks as the Big Store carries. The size and completeness of the stocks we carry are so well known in places many miles from Janesville that this great sale has attracted hundreds of people from these remote places in addition to our large home patronage. If you have a want in floor coverings or curtains you cannot afford to overlook the present money-saving opportunity.

In Room Size Rugs

We show practically all the desirable makes in the market. Every size, and shadings to go with any color scheme. They are all here. During the sale you can save from $2.00 to $8.00 on a rug. The beautiful Royal Wilton Rugs, $35 and $37.50 values, which come in a handsome line of patterns, size 9x12, are interesting many at $29.48. Sizes larger and smaller. We have them all.

Hearth Rugs & Hall Runners

One could hardly ask for larger assortment at such prices as 48c, 69c, 78c, 98c, $1.69.

All wool Ingrain Art Squares, all sizes, a chance to make a liberal saving during the sale of $1.50 to $3.00.

The Burnish Pro-Brussels Art Squares, size 3x4 yards, which we recommend for hard wear, are $12.00, for... $8.95

RUGS MADE TO ORDER.—Our expert carpet man, Mr. T. E. Welch, thoroughly understands this branch of the business. He knows how to make them the right way. In our south room (second floor) we show hundreds of rolls of carpets with borders to match.

Tapestry Brussels 55c and 65c

Velvet Carpets 68c and 88c

Axminster 78c

Body Brussels, at 98c

Wilton Velvets, best grades, without border, at $1.25

Tapestry Brussels and Axminster, in short lengths, at 48c

Body Brussels, at 65c

Best all wool Ingrains, 75c value, a liberal assortment at 49c

Half wool Ingrains, 50c value, at 25c to 39c

Surely a better time than the present was never afforded to save money on floor coverings.

Many other bargains in the carpet stock which we have not room to mention.

Our Curtain Department

(In South store, first floor)

is a revelation to many people who have not been accustomed to seeing large stocks. The present sale is a great success, from every point of view. Compared with curtains in other stores in Janesville or the large cities our prices are far in the lead for lowness, quality considered. We consider our work good but we don't ask you to take it entirely. We have the curtains, thousands of pairs, and to convince people that we are under-selling all competitors is not difficult. It is so plain that people do not even argue the question. Our curtain business has grown to immense proportions during the last two years. It is so large that we are able to go direct to the manufacturer and buy in quantities that insure the lowest prices. It is a fact that we sell many curtains at a less price than some merchants pay for them at wholesale. We have the catalogs from leading wholesale houses, have compared notes carefully and know what we are talking about when we make these statements. For instance: See the white Nottingham lace curtains in beautiful designs, overlooked corded edges, novelty borders, width 47 inches, length 3 yards, wholesale catalog price $1.25, our price $1.00 a pair. See window.

It is hard for people to understand how we can sell Bonne femme curtains at each, $2.45, $1.95, $1.65, $1.35, when other stores ask practically double these prices and perhaps more.

Remember every curtain in our stock is reduced during the sale—which means Lace, Madras, Heavy and Rope Curtains.

Sale Continues Until June 6th.

The 49c Silks

32 inches wide

which we put on sale this morning at 9 a. m. were cut into in a lively manner, and women were not slow to recognize their value. As there were about 1,000 yards in the lot by Saturday night they should be well disposed of.

Also the 49c fancy silks in the narrow widths marked down from 75c are meeting with a ready sale.

HORSE THROWS THE PRESIDENT

MR. ROOSEVELT HAS A NARROW ESCAPE WHILE RIDING.

FALLS INTO SMALL CREEK

Chief Executive Remounts Fractious
Young Animal and Continues His Canter, Uninjured by the Accident.

Washington, June 4.—President Roosevelt had an exceedingly narrow escape from a serious accident while horseback riding in Rock Creek park. Mrs. Roosevelt was with the president and the rumors of the affair, which gained currency, was denied at the White House at the time, as neither the president nor Mrs. Roosevelt spoke of the affair upon their return. The rumors came from the occupants of several carriages who saw the accident.

The president was riding a new horse, a young animal. The party rode down through a cut in a bank, forded a creek and were ascending the bank on the other side. The president's horse reared, the president leaped forward in the saddle and throw the reins down in loops so as to avoid pulling the horse backward.

Thrown into the Creek.
Again on reaching the top of the bank the horse reared a second time and the president leaped forward again, but the animal stood up straight on its hind legs and then went over backward into the creek with the president. Feeling that he was going backward the president slipped from the saddle and as luck would have it fell into the creek close beside the horse, which landed on its back. The horse fell on the down-stream side of the president, who, realizing that he would be in danger from the animal's foot should the horse turn toward him, got out of the way as rapidly as possible.

President Escapes Injury.

The horse, however, turned over from the president and got up. He was captured at once, the president remounted and rode for an hour and a half before returning to the White House. The fall from the horse's back to the stream bed was a distance of more than ten feet. The stream was about two feet deep, with an exceedingly rocky bed. Neither the president nor the horse received the slightest injury. President Roosevelt's two regular riding horses were out of commission, both being indisposed. The president's orderly wished to try out the new horse, but the president took it upon himself to do this. He regards the horse he rode as a good one, but being young, he has a tendency to rear up on slight provocation.

Witnesses Are Alarmed.

The president was dressed in khaki, and the fact that he got thoroughly wet did not become apparent to those who saw him after the accident. Several carriages which had crossed the ford just ahead of the president stopped and the occupants were alarmed at what was happening. The experience, with its many serious possibilities, has not dulled the president's pleasure for riding and he takes considerable gratification in the test of his horsemanship, as both times the animal reared he instinctively threw himself forward so that his head was directly beside that of the rearing animal and the reins, being thrown loose, had no tension whatever to pull the horse backward.

OFFICIALS HALT GUINNESS PROBE.

County Commissioners of Laporte Refuse to Pay Sheriff's Bills.

Laporte, Ind., June 4.—The county commissioners of Laporte county have blocked further investigation into the Guinness case. They have informed Sheriff Smutz that the $5,000 appropriated by the council was not for investigation, but was set aside to be paid to the person who produces Mrs. Guinness alive. Members of the county council when interviewed said they understood in making the appropriation to the commissioners that it would be used for the investigation of the case.

The present condition of affairs has caused a sensation. Sheriff Smutz declares that he cannot continue the investigation without money.

LOW POSTAGE TO BRITAIN

RATE OF TWO CENTS AT OUNCE
ON LETTERS ANNOUNCED.

Postmaster General Meyer Makes Known Agreement with England, to Be Effective October 1.

Washington, June 4.—Postmaster General Meyer announced Wednesday that an agreement had been reached with the British government for a letter postage of two cents an ounce between the United States and Great Britain and Ireland, to become effective October 1. The British postmaster general, Sydney Luxton, made the same announcement to the house of commons.

A "ponny postage," as it is called in England, had been under consideration for some time, and last July President Roosevelt approved Mr. Meyer's course in urging a "restricted union with England." October 1, 1907, the Universal Postal union, which governs international postal transactions of the civilized countries, reduced the rate on letters from five cents a half ounce flat to five cents for the first ounce and three cents for each additional ounce. This is the present rate between the United States and Great Britain, with which there is direct steamship communication, and also the rate between the United States and countries with which there is not direct steamship communication, but on whose mail an additional charge is paid to countries through which it passes in transit.

Under the articles of the Universal union, any two states may form a restricted union. Examples of restricted unions are those which permit a two-cent-an-ounce letter rate between the United States and Panama and the United States and Canada.

Postmaster General Meyer believes that the reduction in postage to the United Kingdom will result in an increase in receipts, because it has always been found that a reduction of the letter rate finally raised the revenue. He is of the opinion also that lower postage will lead to freer commercial intercourse.

SOUTH IN TRIBUTE TO DAVIS.

Appropriate Exercises for Birthday
Anniversary of Confederate Leader.

New Orleans, June 4.—With appropriate exercises, the people of the south Wednesday celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis. The day was observed as a whole or partial holiday in Kentucky, Florida, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas, South Carolina, Louisiana and Virginia, and varied between the entire cessation of business and the mere closing of public schools. In Louisiana the day is a legal holiday. It was made memorable by the dedication of the site here for the monument which is to be erected to the memory of President Davis by the people of the south. The exercises began at 11 o'clock, and included addresses by prominent veterans and patriotic children of New Orleans, each of whom wore a rose, the favorite flower of President Davis. The dedication was made by the Auburn park commission, this park having been chosen as the site for the monument.

Child Murderer Is Insane.

Easton, Pa., June 4.—The commission appointed to examine Robert Bachman, the religious fanatic who murdered his little niece during an orgie at Nazareth on April 29, performed the duty in the county jail Wednesday and immediately thereafter filed a report to the effect that the prisoner's mind is unbalanced and recommended that he be removed to an asylum.

Usurper Confiscates Wives.

Mequins, June 4.—Mual Haid, the usurping sultan of Morocco, has confiscated the wives of Gen. Bagdadi and his brother and has informed them that the women will be sold unless submission is sent to him immediately. Gen. Bagdadi has laid the case before the Moroccan foreign board, which suggested that he request the intervention of the diplomatic corps.

SCHOOL PUPILS ARE STARVING

DEPLORABLE CONDITION AMONG CHILDREN OF NEW YORK.

FAINTING AT THEIR DESKS

Many Have No Food for Two Days—
Emergency Measures Are Being Taken for Their Relief.

New York, June 4.—Emergency measures for the relief of hundreds of pupils in East side schools who have been found to be suffering from lack of food have been adopted by the committee of East side school board members, organized as a result of the serious conditions which the reports of school principals in the section revealed.

At a conference late Wednesday the committee decided to arrange for the speedy opening of two kitchens on the lower East side at which the hungry children may be fed. While the funds for the support of these kitchens have been supplied only in part, the public has been so stirred by the disclosures of the pitiable plight of children fainting at their desks from want of sufficient nourishment that the committee anticipates no trouble in obtaining by subscription all the money needed for the purpose.

Worst Hasn't Been Told.

That the reports already made public have hardly painted conditions black enough was the statement made Wednesday by Isidore M. Levy, chairman of the Third school district committee, "An investigation," said Mr. Levy, "has shown that many of the destitute families have sent their little ones to school without having given them food for 48 hours. To my own personal knowledge several children have fainted while they were reciting in their classrooms."

Destitution has visited hundreds of East side families as the result of the business depression. Not only have the educational authorities taken up the matter, but various charitable societies have begun active work for alleviating the distress. Among these are the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, and the United Hebrew Charities.

Teachers Provide Food.

The teachers' and principals' organization, perfected Wednesday, is to be called the Children's Relief society, and it made announcement that Thursday the hungry children in many of the lower East side schools would receive tickets entitling them to a substantial luncheon consisting of soup, an egg, plenty of rolls and butter, crackers and sterilized milk.

More than 600 children of two school districts on the lower East side are in need of food, according to a report made by District Superintendent Julia Richman.

In many cases it has been found that children go without food on an average of two days a week. Many of these children have fainted in school from lack of nourishment. This is what has led to the discovery of the deplorable poverty.

ACCOUNTS SHORT; KILLS SELF.

New York Bank Teller Commits Suicide After Writing Confession.

New York, June 4.—On being questioned by the bank's officers Wednesday about an apparent discrepancy in his accounts, Charles T. Muir, paying teller of the Forty-second street branch of the Corn Exchange bank, asked to be excused until he could obtain a deposit ticket to explain the matter, went to the basement and, after writing a brief confession that his accounts were short, shot himself in the head. He died within an hour at the hospital. Vice-President Frow of the Corn Exchange bank said that Muir's shortage was $9,068.

Muir was one of the bank's most trusted employees and it was while he was receiving teller that he conducted his peculations. In his confession he said that the embezzlements had been going on for five years, and that he succeeded in covering his shortage by substituting new deposits for old. Three days ago he was made paying teller of the bank and an examination of his accounts was begun, a suspicion having been aroused that all was not right. In the capacity of paying teller he was no longer in a position to conceal his shortage.

Battles with Starving Dogs.

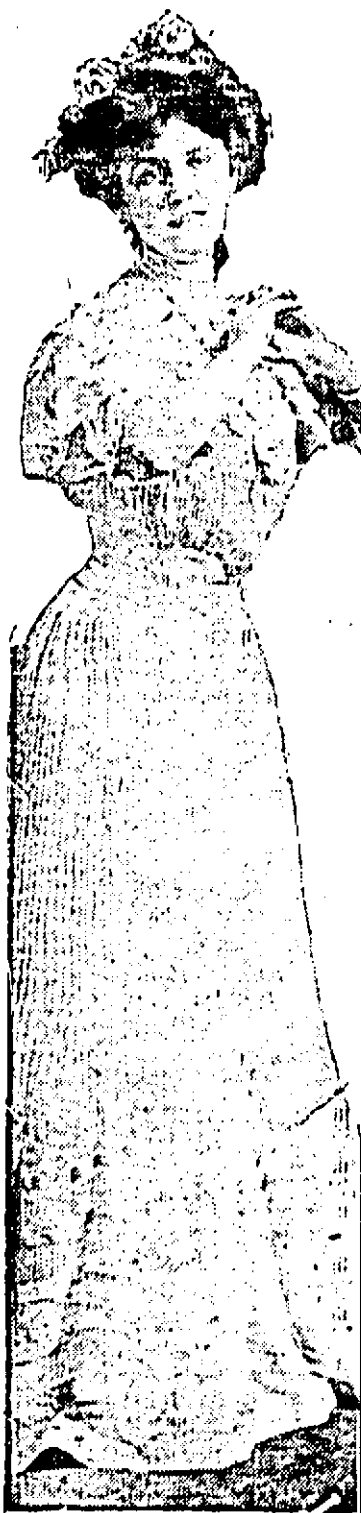

St. Johns, N. F., June 4.—Battling for 40 hours against a pack of hunger-maddened dogs on an ice pack off the coast of Labrador, with the temperature ten degrees below zero and with only a knife to defend himself from being torn to pieces by the savage brutes, is the thrilling experience that Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, the celebrated missionary physician, has recently passed through. The story of Dr. Grenfell's escape from death is told by Capt. W. Bartlett of the steamer Strathcona, which has just arrived here from the north.

Gotham Gamblers Are Raided.

New York, June 4.—A spectacular raid was made late Wednesday night on two houses on West Forty-first street, where it was suspected gambling operations were going on, by a large force of police who dashed up in automobiles and took 68 prisoners. The raids were made while the streets in this section, the heart of the theater district, were crowded.

DEMOCRATS ARE SPLIT IN IDAHO

HOPELESS BREACH CAUSED BY THE MORMON QUESTION.

TWO CONVENTIONS HELD

Maryland Democrats Elect an Uninstructed Delegation—Senator
Allison's Victory in Iowa
Is Assured.

Twin Falls, Idaho, June 4.—The Democratic party of Idaho is hopelessly split on the Mormon question. Amid the wildest scenes ever witnessed at a convention in this state, two conventions were held Wednesday afternoon in the same hall. Both claim to be regular and a bitter contest before the national committee at Denver is certain.

At one time during the proceedings physical encounters seemed imminent and it looked as if there might be bloodshed.

The anti-Mormon faction, led by former Senator Dubois, seemed to have a majority of the delegates. The other faction elected 12 delegates, one from each of the seven judicial districts and five from the states at large, each entitled to half a vote at the national convention.

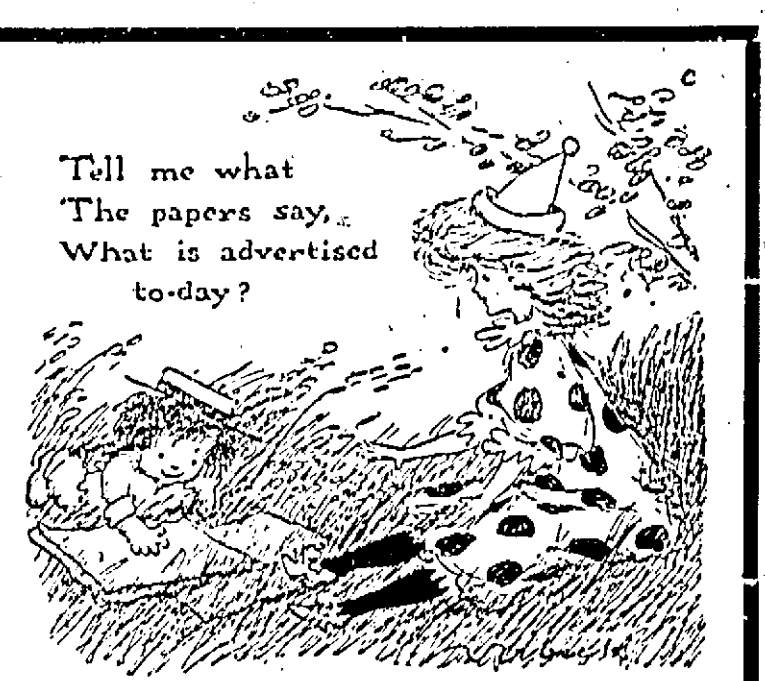

Make No Mention of Bryan.

Baltimore, Md., June 4.—The Democratic state convention was held Wednesday and delegates to the national convention at Denver were elected and a platform adopted. The latter makes no mention of the candidacy for the presidential nomination of William J. Bryan, and his followers, who had been demanding half the delegation sent to Denver, count but four sure Bryan men among the 16 delegates chosen. The close of the convention came amid considerable confusion, following the statement of a delegate that he had intended to offer a resolution looking to instructions favorable to Bryan, but had been dissuaded, and an endeavor of another delegate to second the other's motion, though none had been made.

Allison's Victory Assured.

Des Moines, Ia., June 4.—Returns that are complete in nearly all the counties of the state, show that Iowa Republicans nominated William B. Allison as their candidate to succeed himself in the United States senate. His majority is now generally conceded to be at least 10,000. B. P. Carroll was nominated for governor over Warren Garst by a majority of about 20,000. George W. Clark was nominated for lieutenant governor over B. Murphy by 20,000 or more. J. P. Riggs was nominated superintendent of public schools by an overwhelming majority.

Gov. Cummins took the result of the primaries very gracefully and spent the afternoon with friends playing golf. Senator Allison at Dubuque expressed great gratification on the result.

for other purposes than those for which they were constructed.

"The fundamental principle upon which the monetary commission should proceed with its work of devising a scheme of banking and currency reform is that of protecting the commercial banks of the country from the people who would use their deposits for other than commercial purposes, and convert their assets which should always be held in liquid form, either into fixed investments or speculative risks.

"Promotion is right, underwriting is right, speculation is right, financial banking is right; but everything in its place. A commercial bank ought not to combine the functions of a private banker, of a trust company and a savings bank with those of an institution of mercantile credit."

RESULTS OF THREE PANICS

"The panic of 1873 brought to an end the era of paper inflation and was followed by the resumption of specie payments.

"The panic of 1893 brought about the repeal of the silver purchasing act and later the definite establishment of the gold standard.

"The panic of 1907 has produced a law for panic insurance by establishing the machinery for the issue of emergency money.

"Now let us do business again."

This is a terse summary and a brief word of practical advice from one of the best financial journals in the country. The cause of the last panic was as unlike the other two, as day and night, and while the shortage of currency was embarrassing for the time, there was no element of danger connected with it.

Clearing house certificates were issued to the extent of more than $200,000,000 and before people fairly realized that money was scarce, the country was flooded with it.

This was an unusual experience, which may never be repeated, and the emergency currency bill just passed may have no occasion to be tested. The chances are that in future money will be kept in legitimate channels, and if it is, the supply is ample for business needs.

Confidence will be inspired because of the emergency bill, because of its protective features. It is like fire insurance, good when needed. In fact, it insures the nation against future currency panic.

TERRIBLE WASTE OF LIQUORS

Kansas sheriffs are becoming reckless. Their wanton disregard of property when it is labeled "Liquors" has greatly alarmed the liquor forces of the state. On May 26th, Sheriff Wilkerson of Topeka poured into the gutters rare old wines and bottled whiskeys to the value of $2,500. These liquors had been confiscated under the provisions of the state law "during 1907, and the sheriff evidently decided that they would do less harm in the gutters than anywhere else.

The Topeka, Kansas, chief of police, caught the spirit about the same time, and destroyed about $500 worth of the same kind of goods.

And yet Currier's Nation did not seem to be in at the killing.

The republicans of Iowa acted wisely in selecting Senator Allison to succeed himself and this action will be generally approved by the party throughout the country. Senator Allison is 79 years old, but his mental faculties are as active as ever, and his experience of 42 years in Washington, is of value to the state and nation. He belongs to the old guard, conservative and possessed of good common sense.

Life insurance companies paid out for losses in 1907 more than $350,000,000 and a great army of widows and orphans were saved from want and destitution. Wisconsin drove 23 of these beneficiary companies out of the state by radical and wise legislation and the insurance department defends the action.

Massachusetts boasts of one town which expelled the saloon by high license. Through a mistake in the local option election, the town voted wet, and in order to keep saloons from coming in through this technical error, the town council placed the license fee at $1,000,000. No one took out a license.

"The vandalism connected with the Richardson home in the second ward is an outrage which should be stopped. It is the result of the efforts of the entire force and the top-heavy head of the department. The city is suffering from an overdose of police authority for which a few men in the common council is responsible.

Of the 105 counties in Kansas, thirty-five have no county jails, and thirty-seven have no criminal cases on the docket at the present time. Forty-one counties are without a single pauper and twenty-five have no poorhouses.

A Case of Identity

"It's a great help to be able to size up the men you come in contact with," said a businessman to his son; "but it's more important still that you should first know yourself.

"For instance, A noisy bunch tucked out of their club late one night, and up the street. They were stopped in front of an imposing residence. After considerable discussion one of them advanced and knocked on the door. A woman stuck her head out a second-story window and demanded, none so sweetly: 'What do you want?'

"Is this the residence of Mr. Smith?" inquired the man on the steps, with an elaborate bow.

"It is. What do you want?"

"Is it possible that I have the honor of speaking to Miss Smith?"

"Yes. What do you want?"

"Dear Miss Smith. Good Miss Smith. Will you—come down and pick out Mr. Smith? The rest of us want to go home."—Everybody's Magazine.

DREAM STUFF AND SOUL STUFF.

We are such stuff. As dreams are made of, and our little life is rounded with a sleep.

All of us, young or old, rich or poor—all of us have our dreams, and these dreams are not all of sleep. The best of all our dreams are the day-dreams.

To the young these dreams come like a glittering pageant of beauty—castles in Spain—seen through the ever shifting kaleidoscope of early hopes and aspirations.

"Alas that dreams are only dreams; that fancy cannot give a lasting beauty to those forms that scarce a moment live."

With the years comes disillusion. The mirages rise. The rivers of fancy lose their ripples in the sands of life's desert places. The feathery palm trees of the distance fade away. The castles in Spain disappear like an unsubstantial fabric.

But we must not cease to dream—because our life is such stuff as dreams are made of, because life in its fullness of meaning is in the reaching always after our ideals, because a soul without its visions is dead.

Because no man really lives if he is not always striving to make his best dreams come true.

Did you ever realize the difference between great souls and little souls? The little soul has few dreams or, disappointed, ceases to dream. The great soul dreams on and is always going out to realize his dreams. The ideal is the mental conception of something supremely good, supremely to be desired. He dreams of what ought to be and finds realization and happiness in striving after his ideal. His dreams may not come wholly true, but if he has seen his vision and pondered it and been dominated by it he will find partial realization, and in finding a part of his dream he finds his happiness.

Those who never dream are not so. They go to their work like slaves whipped to their tasks. Life has no spontaneity. There are no enthusiasms in their life, and they constantly ask themselves whether life is worth the while. The man who has no vision has no abundance, no fullness of life. He is already dead.

Therefore, my brethren, let us go on dreaming the beautiful dreams. Some sweet day we shall wake up and find them all come true. Let us dream.

Because dream stuff put into terms of action and character is soul stuff!

Imagination. Believe that you have, and you have it.—Ovid.

FOR SAFETY IN THE SCHOOLS

European Schemes Intended to Guard Against Disaster.

How to guard against disaster in schools in case of fire is a subject which is receiving much attention in the large cities of Europe. Some of the preventive measures suggested by correspondents of a Vienna paper make interesting reading for Americans. One man writes that in one of the small towns in Bohemia the school sessions are held in two old buildings which were once residences. By an iron door one may go from one building to the other, and in case of fire in one house the children have but to go to this door and find safety in the building in which there is no fire. This plan should be adopted, he says, for all the city schools. "They usually stand among dwelling houses, and from each there should be an exit to the house next door. That would make the schools safe and prevent panics." Another man writes that the expense of placing new doors on the schools would cost too much. "All danger could be obviated," he says, "by leaving the doors to the street wide open while the schools are in session." No correspondent suggested fire escapes.

GOVERNOR CLAUDE A. SWANSON OF VIRGINIA.

Richmond, Va.—The centennial of the birth of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederate states, was celebrated June 3 by the state of Virginia as a state holiday. Governor Claude A. Swanson issued a proclamation accordingly. One hundred years ago, June 3, Jefferson Davis came into the world. On the centennial the Davis monument, which was unveiled last year during the great Confederate reunion, will be formally transferred to the keeping of the city.

The proclamation of the governor, setting aside June 3 as a holiday, is as follows:

"Whereas, June 3, 1908, is the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederate States of America;

"Whereas, that day will be observed in Richmond as a memorial day in commemoration of the Confederate dead by the Hollywood Memorial association, and the monument erected in this city by the Jefferson Davis Memorial association in memory of President Davis will be presented to the city of Richmond; and,

"Whereas, the day is one worthy of proper and patriotic observance by the people of Virginia;

"Therefore, I, Claude A. Swanson, governor of Virginia, request that the people of this state, the private schools, colleges and organizations do meet at such time and place as may be convenient, to pay tribute and just tribute to the exalted character, life and services of President Jefferson Davis; and in pursuance of a joint resolution of the general assembly of Virginia, approved March 7, 1900, I urge that the public schools of the state hold appropriate exercises commemorative of the day and the occasion, and that the state offices at Richmond be closed, and direct that the flag of the state be hoisted over the capitol building as prescribed by law."

"Therefore, my brethren, let us go on dreaming the beautiful dreams. Some sweet day we shall wake up and find them all come true. Let us dream.

Because dream stuff put into terms of action and character is soul stuff!

FRANK FELLOWS KILLED BY FALL

IN FRONT OF T. J. ZIEGLER STORE
THIS MORNING.

WAS ADJUSTING NEW SIGN

Above the Windows When He Lost His Footing—Right Side of Skull Crushed by Impact.

While engaged in adjusting the bolts to hold in place a large new sign which Hutchinson & Sons had completed for the Milwaukee street front of the T. J. Ziegler Clothing Co.'s store, Frank A. Fellows, a painter, lost his footing about half-past nine o'clock this morning and falling backward, struck the cement sidewalk with a force sufficient to crush in the right side of his skull. There were few, if any, eye-witnesses of the frightful accident. Howard Haffey, who was holding the ladder, and others in the vicinity heard, without warning, the sound of the impact and a groan and saw the man with whom they had been conversing but a few moments before stretched out upon the concrete, with streams of blood spurting from the gaping wound and mouth. People came running from all directions and in the course of a few moments Dr. Charles Sutherland was working over the victim of the tragedy and bandages, cold water, and an umbrella to keep off the sun had been provided by the thoughtful. No sound or movement rewarded the efforts of the workers and when he was carefully lifted into the ambulance it was plain to be seen that life was ebbing. He died just as the conveyance was crossing the railroad tracks on the way to the hospital.

Fall Not Due to Sunstroke

While George Dickens, a carpenter residing at 59 North Hickory street, who happened to be passing on the Myers hotel side of the thoroughfare and saw Mr. Fellows fall, believes that he was overtaken by a fainting spell or touch of sun, this conjecture seems not to be borne out by the evidence of other witnesses. Some of the latter say that he was stepping from a window sill to the ladder and others aver that he tried and failed to get a foothold on a narrow ledge of projecting masonry just above the business sign. The fall was from fourteen to sixteen feet and was not broken by contact with the ladder or any other intervening obstacle. Mr. Fellows had been following the trade of a painter in this locality for about twenty years; had been in the employ of Hutchinson & Sons for a long time and prior to that worked for A. C. Kentz and was known as one of the most careful artisans in the city.

The deceased and his family recently took up their abode on Chicago street. Besides the grief-stricken wife, Mr. Fellows is survived by four children—Frank J. Fellows, a brickman on the Mineral Point division of the St. Paul road, Mrs. Edward German of Milwaukee, and the Misses Josephine and Lillian Fellows who live at home. There are also two brothers—Clayton and Robert Bert Fellows, and a sister, Mrs. Bert Hubbert, who resides on North Hickory street. He was about fifty years of age.

FUND FOR FAMILY OF HONEST JOHN KELLY

"Trotter and Pacer" Magazine Published in New York Calls For Contributions.

In a recent issue of "The Trotter and Pacer," a magazine devoted to the light harness horse and published in New York, an appeal is made to horsemen for contributions to a fund for the care of the widow of the late John Kelly, who died here several months ago, and the little daughter, Phyllis. The appeal is illustrated with handsome cuts of the great horseman and his little girl and is signed by Sidney S. Toman, the editor. The tribute by Mr. Toman is a beautiful one. He says in part: "During his long connection with the light harness turf, John Kelly stood for honest racing. He was in every sense of the term a thorough gentleman, and from the beginning to the untimely end of his career, no breath or suspicion of scandal was ever heard regarding his character as a man or driver. Of his ability no word of ours could add to his reputation as a master of his profession, for the stories of his campaigns are whole chapters of his life. His influence added much to racing the sport to the high plane it now occupies, and to inspire thinking men with confidence in its integrity. But with his ability and honesty, he was not a good business man, in the sense of getting and keeping money. He was liberal almost to a fault, and after a series of business misfortunes, came his last illness, and death found him almost penniless. He left an invalid wife, whom he had treated with tender care, little thinking that she would survive her robust husband. The wife is now destitute, and cannot, on account of delicate health, become self-supporting. The little daughter, a bright winsome child, the very apple of her father's eye, must be clothed and educated. They are charged on the horsemen of America, and as they are men to whom an appeal for contributions to a worthy cause never has been and we trust, never will be made in vain, we expect and believe the amount raised for this purpose will be a substantial one. We ask in behalf of this worthy widow and her little daughter that every horseman in this broad land and every man or woman who benefited directly or indirectly by the efforts of 'Honest' John Kelly, to send us at once as much money as he or she can afford to give, and also to collect from others who may not read this appeal."

STRIKE IN HONOR TO ZOLA

HIS BURIAL IN THE PANTHEON
REVIVES ANIMOSITIES.

Anti-Dreyfus Papers of Paris Heap Insults on the Memory of the Famous Author.

Paris, June 4.—Preparations for the burial Thursday of Emile Zola, with full national honors, in the Pantheon, the French temple of fame, are complete. The ceremony will be elaborate and almost identical with that when the body of Victor Hugo, the last great Frenchman to be so honored, was transferred to the Pantheon.

The realization that Zola is being glorified not so much as a reward for his prodigious literary activity as because he was the first great leader in the Dreyfus affair, which routed the general staff of the army and forced France to purge herself of the charge of racial injustice, has revived whatever is left of the old animosities that ten years ago divided France into two camps.

This is apparent from the rage manifested by the former anti-Dreyfus papers, which today are heaping insults upon the memory of Zola as a traitor of France in his novels, and are crying that the translation of his remains to the Pantheon is a national disgrace. These reactionary agencies plainly are trying to provoke anti-Zola manifestations.

Wednesday night, in accordance with the arranged program, the remains, which have been lying under a striking bust of the novelist in the cemetery of Montmartre, were borne in a simple hearse, followed by the widow and other members of the family and a few intimate friends in carriages, to the Pantheon, where the coffin was placed upon a high catafalque erected in the middle transept beneath a high cupola.

Hundreds of students, roughs and others, Zolaists and anti-Zolaists, paraded the main thoroughfares in the Latin quarter, frequently coming to blows and keeping a large extra force of police busy. Shortly before midnight a determined attempt was made to storm the approaches of the Pantheon to the accompaniment of the Marseillaise and cries of "Throw him in the sewer," but the police soon rounded up the rioters and drove them away.

BURLINGTON ROAD FINED.

Convicted of Violating Regarding Live
Stock in Transit.

Springfield, Ill., June 4.—The federal government won a notable victory in the United States district court Wednesday when the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad company was found guilty on two charges of violating the 28-hour law which provides that live stock shall not be confined in cars over 28 hours without being taken out for a period of five consecutive hours for the purpose of giving them rest and feed and water. The company was fined $100 and costs on each of three counts.

MYSTERY IN A MURDER.

Man Killed by Youth Who Is Rumored
to Be a Woman.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 4.—A man supposed to be A. P. Camden, a drummer of 1563 Carroll avenue, Chicago, was shot and instantly killed late Wednesday night by a boy giving his name as James Montague, 15 years old, whom he had never seen before. It was reported later that the murderer was a woman masquerading in male attire and apparently insane, but particulars at a late hour were not obtainable.

BLACK HAWK VETERAN DEAD.

Daniel Ritchey, Aged 90, Passes Away at Corning, Ia.

Corning, Ia., June 4.—Daniel Ritchey, aged 90 years, is dead at Corning. He was a veteran of the Black Hawk war. He kept a hotel in Adams county in 1855, and when John Brown and Jim Lane were running slaves north into Canada, his hostelry was a rendezvous for them. He was also a Mason, and perhaps the oldest one in the state at the time of his death.

Publisher Indicted for Fraud.

St. Paul, Minn., June 4.—The federal grand jury Wednesday afternoon returned three indictments against James L. Lovering, publisher of the Mail Order Monthly and of Successful Agriculture, charging him with using the mails for the purpose of promoting a lottery and a scheme to defraud. An indictment charging the illegal use of the mails was returned against Samuel A. Phillips, promoter of the St. Paul & Seattle Electric railway.

Cardinal Logue Meets John D.

Tarrytown, N. Y., June 4.—Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, and John D. Rockefeller met here Wednesday at the home of James Butler and after spending several minutes chatting on general subjects, they posed for a picture with Bishop Brown of Ireland.

Woman Assassin Is Hanged.

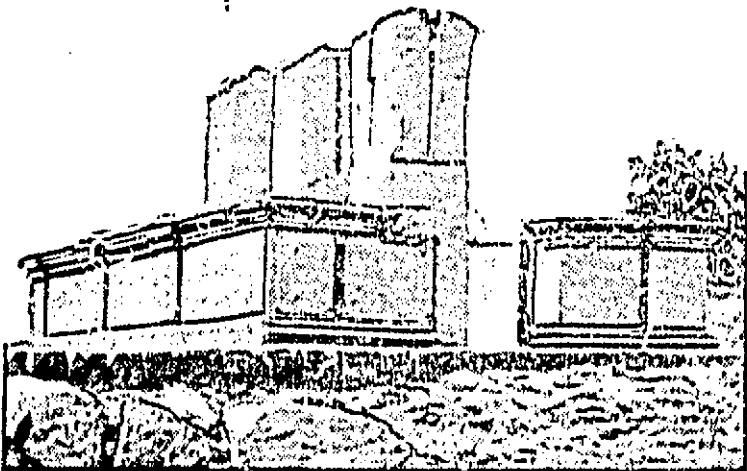

Voronezh, June 4.—Mlle. Fedorova, the woman who made an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Gen. Mikoloff, governor of this province, on May 6, was hanged here Wednesday. She was 25 years old and was formerly a school teacher.

Four Badly Hurt by Explosion.

Amherst, O., June 4.—Three girls and a man were severely injured by an explosion at the works of the American Dynamite company near here Wednesday. The explosive was accidentally ignited by a battery.

PLACE OF MAXIMILLIAN'S EXECUTION AT QUERETARO, MEXICO.

About a mile from the pretty Mexican city of Queretaro there is a little hill, overlooking the city and the surrounding plain. Three columns stand upon this eminence, marking the place where on a beautiful June morning in the year 1867 three men stood bravely and composedly awaiting death. The central place was occupied by Maximilian, the brother of the present emperor of Austria, who had come to Mexico, supported by Napoleon III, of France, to establish here an empire. This was the ending of his brief, inglorious reign. On his right and left were two of his generals, Miramon and Mejia. On arriving here, Maximilian gave to the priest who accompanied him his last and hitherto personal farewell gifts to his family in Austria. His wife Carlotta was then (as she is still) hopelessly insane; but this fact Maximilian did not know. It would have given him additional anguish. He believed her to be dead. At the last moment, General Miramon and Mejia, the two deposed emperors, "Mejia and I are in the position of the two thieves at the crucifixion." "Take my place," replied Maximilian gravely. Thus speaking, he stepped quickly to the left, leaving Miramon in the center. A moment later the volley was fired, and the three victims of political envy and the three victims of political envy fell dead. The column therefore, on the right (as one looks at the picture) indicates the position of the prince. At least, the writer, during a tour through Mexico, was assured of the above facts by an eye witness to the execution. Maximilian requested the soldiers to spare his face, so that, when his body should be sent to Austria, his mother might once more look upon his features. His wish was granted. Thus ended another attempt at union between France and Austria. They are inevitably disastrous. What a trio—Marie Antoinette, Marie Louise and Maximilian!

Open Shop Declared in La Crosse.

La Crosse, Wis., June 4.—As a result of the strike of union plumbers, every plumbing firm in La Crosse Wednesday declared an open shop and the bosses announced that they would make no more contracts with the union. The announcement has precipitated a war between the plumbing firms and the local trades unions. Several non-union plumbers have been assaulted on the streets.

O. H. P. Belmont Seriously Ill.

New York, June 4.—Olive H. P. Belmont is reported to be gravely ill of appendicitis at his country home, Brookholme villa, Mendocino, Cal., and it is feared an operation will be necessary.

Hope for the European Abandoned.

Norfolk, Va., June 4.—All hope has been abandoned for the German steamer Europa which sailed from Hamburg, Germany, 45 days ago bound for Norfolk, loaded with fertilizer.

De Young's Daughter to Wed.

San Francisco, June 4.—The engagement is announced of Miss Helen De Young, oldest daughter of M. B. De Young, proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle, to George Cameron. Both are prominent in San Francisco society and well known in New York and other eastern cities.

For the Music Room.

No piano can possibly be heard to advantage in a room which is either heavily curtained or is overcrowded with furniture. A good plan to insure the correct temperature of the room in which the piano stands is to keep a growing plant there. So long as the plant thrives you can tell that any changes of heat and cold there may be are not sufficient to affect the instrument.

WHY PAY MORE THAN $18.50

FOR A SEWING MACHINE?

At this price a machine can be made containing every late improvement, every new device, the very best of material, in fact a machine as good as you will find on the market. People have been in the habit of paying more for a GOOD machine, and it was because certain parts were "patented" and the owners of these patents could demand their own price. Now these patents have expired and everybody can use them.

The Eldredge machine today at $18.50 is just as good as you have paid $40 or $50 for a few years ago. Let us tell you more about sewing machines, or better still, drop in and see the machine for yourself. Out of town people write for circular.

ATLANTIC FLEET

A. W. THORPE WRITES OF VISIT TO TACOMA RECENTLY.

WAS A WONDERFUL SIGHT

Settled Down on Small Fruit Ranch on June 1—An Interesting Letter.

A. W. Thorpe writes an interesting letter from his new home at Centralia, Washington, on his visit to Tacoma where he witnessed the arrival of the Atlantic-Pacific fleet. Mr. Thorpe and his mother have purchased a small thirty-acre fruit ranch near Centralia and took possession June 1. Strawberries, cherries, apples, plums, pears and peaches are grown. His written of his visit to Tacoma as follows:

We were at Tacoma last Wednesday to help welcome the fleet of battleships into the splendid harbor in Commencement bay. It was a grand affair and one we will remember as long as we live.

It was a perfect day with just enough breeze to flutter the countless flags on the buildings along Pacific avenue. People have been coming to Tacoma for the past two or three days and the early morning trains into the city were loaded with people from all over the state. The city is built on the side of a hill overlooking the bay. And all the forenoon the people were gathered along the waterfront. When the fleet came around Brown's point at 11:30 a. m. all the wharves, buildings and parks were black with people.

The nine battleships came down the sound in single column until opposite Commencement bay, then they turned and steamed slowly into the bay. There was not a sound as they came to anchor near shore, except a faint cheer from the people among the trees at the top of the hill.

The scene was so impressive that everybody scarcely moved until the ships dropped their anchors and had swung around with the breeze.

The bay is very deep and one of the battleships was so close we could see the sailors on deck and hear the chain rattles as they dropped their anchor. At 1 o'clock nearly all the steamers, tugs and launches near the city began to carry the people out to the fleet.

We took a large launch in the Foss dock and were carried first to the "Georgia" which was nearer shore. But as they only allowed people on board this ship who were accompanied with children they carried the rest of us to the "Virginia" a short distance beyond. A large scow was tied to the side of the battleship with some boxes of hay between as a bumper. After we had changed from the launch to the scow, then clambered up steps hanging to the side of the ship we found ourselves on board a United States battleship for the first time. The ship was painted pure white and nearly blinded us as the sun shone on the hull and deck.

The sailors were standing ready to show the people over the big machine. You cannot imagine our feelings as we stood on the deck of that large mass of wood and steel and realized it was floating on the water. But as the city would be first on one side and then on the other as the ship swung at anchor in the breeze, we had to make up our mind that iron will float.

The people were not allowed below the gun deck or upon the bridge, but were free to go anywhere they wished in the rest of the ship. And it was enough to see in one half day. We were interested in the big brown 11-inch rifles and the smaller cannon on the lower deck. The largest rifled cannon were located in the two turrets, one at each end of the deck, and were very large. One of them was upon at anchor in the breeze, we had to look through it and see the rifling on the inside.

The breech inside the turret was nearly as large as the boiler on a standard locomotive. We can not describe all the things we saw that afternoon. But it was wonderful and no mistake.

Some young ladies played several pieces on the piano and the band gave a concert during the afternoon.

I guess sailors enjoy dancing, for the band had not been playing five minutes before the forward deck was full of them dancing as if they enjoyed it.

Several of the sailors were hanging over the side of the ship and scrubbing the high white sides with water from the sound. It looked as clean as water would make it, but it has to be scrubbed just the same. Everything was as clean as it could be.

All the sailors and officers were very kind and would explain all about the different parts of the ship. But it is beyond me to write of all the things I asked about that afternoon. One would have to stay on board longer than four hours to be completely familiar with a ship as large as a battleship. I can say this much, it was the finest picture I ever saw in my life.

Imagine if you can those nine big white ships floating on the blue water of Commencement bay. The mountains on all sides were green with fir trees, only where the city of Tacoma came down to the water.

Off in the northwest we could just see the peaks of the Olympic mountains to miles away. And 45 miles in the southwest we could see the snow-capped summit of Mt. Rainier with the lower peaks of the Cascades as a background.

One of the sailors said it was the finest view as well as the best harbor he had seen.

The water is 300 feet deep and ocean ships can anchor very close in shore.

There was quite a launch at the ladder when all the people left the ship, but we all got safely off. We would like to have staid through the evening for the battleships were to be decorated with electric lights from end to end.

On the bridge of each ship the letters of its name were formed with small electric lights which in the evening would be like letters of fire and with their big searchlights would look fine.

The city was all decorated with bunting and flags.

Pacific avenue, the main street of the city, was hung with bunches of fir trees among which colored electric lights were fastened. A few even had several street-cars covered with sprays of fir with a row of flags on the trolley pole. But as our train left at 5 p. m. we could not see the illumination.

The people of Tacoma took great care to have everybody well treated and leave pleased with their visit to the fleet and city. I know we were and will have something to remember when we are old and unable to travel.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR MANUFACTURING

Local Factories Keep Busy—Outlook For Business Appears Very Good.

While this is practically the between and betwixt season for nearly all the industries of the city, there is considerable activity in the different lines of business about the city. In manufacturing, Thos. Howe of the Howe Bros., explained the present outlook yesterday by saying, "While there is no great volume of business just at this season of the year the outlook for the immediate future is far better than was expected last fall. The advance of the price of raw material in our line is stimulating the inquiry at the offices of the manufacturing plants is most optimistic, a talk with some of the workers shows that in many cases the hours are shortened and the working force actually reduced. To make up for this however is the increased amount of building in the city. This will give employment to a large force of men who otherwise might be idle part of the summer at least. In the tobacco warehouses there is but little doing in the way of large shipments although some of the 1906 crop has been changing hands and one car of that year was shipped east and inquiries are beginning to come in for samples from the big buyers to local packers. In all it is estimated that two hundred are employed attending at the presses this time. In the foundry business trade is dull, but our men are not coming in but as this is the usual quiet season nothing unusual is thought of. The Burns Hatting works is putting in ten hours a day and the Janesville Shirt and Overall factory is working nine hours a day to keep up with the demand. At the Janesville Machine company the heavy shipping season is about over but the working force is not cut down perceptibly. At the Janesville Barbed Wire works a new addition, forty by one hundred, is to be built this summer.

SERVICES IN CHURCH OF UNITED BRETHREN

Doors of Edifice Will be Opened Sunday Morning—Rev. J. W. Hicks

Revival a Success.
With the close of the first week of the revival services conducted by Rev. J. W. Hicks under the auspices of the church of the United Brethren in Christ, definite results have been accomplished and a large measure of success may be predicted. Fifteen have taken a stand for the better life and a large class will unite with the church Sunday morning, when the doors of the new church will be opened for the first time. Mr. Hicks wins the sympathy and confidence of his hearers by his easy and natural methods of dealing with subject at hand and by the broad optimism, which characterizes all of his utterances.

Medical men in the United States and Europe can avail themselves in cases of emergency of telegraphs, telephones, railroads and other modern auxiliaries of space. Not so with the physician in China, except in a few cities where Western ideas and methods have been adopted. One of the medical missionaries working under the American Board gives a graphic picture of a recent visit to patients living at five different places, all within 200 miles of his station. The journey required eleven days. He started out in a sedan chair but his two bearers, being opium smokers, caused so much delay and annoyance that at the end of 30 miles he decided to walk. His luggage consisted of food enough for the entire trip, cooking utensils and bedding, a box of medicines and instruments, also literature to distribute among the Chinese, for they are a great reading people. Pancy an American doctor starting on a round of visits with such a paraphernalia, his weight, 160 pounds, was divided between two carriers who walked from 15 to 27 miles per day with apparently little fatigue. The route took them along fields where rice was being harvested by precisely the same methods used 2,000 years ago. There were no roads, in our sense of the word, nothing but a narrow footpath paved with small, round stones, which had become smooth and slippery from being trodden by thousands of sandaled feet for centuries. Naturally a foreigner becomes a little footsore walking over these stones. Another drawback was the native huns, full of spirit and vermin, where they had to spend three nights.

On reaching a village doctor made straight for the little chapel, used both as a place for Christian worship and schoolhouse, and thither the natives flocked for treatment. The scene, at such a time, is almost an exact parallel of the one mentioned in Luke 4:40. The native pastors in these villages are intelligent and often well-educated men, being graduates of the mission schools. With the present craze for Western learning they could easily earn more money in government positions. But believing that Christianity is the supreme need of China at this hour they stick to the work of spreading its truths. A typical case is that of a young preacher, who manages somehow to support a wife and four children on the meagre salary of three and a half dollars in gold per month. As the medical missionary tours among these people and sees what they are made of, he prefers to pursue his profession there, in spite of the difficulties, to an easier job in the United States.

LOST DIAMOND RINGS RESTORED TO OWNER

Mother of Edna Wheelock Visited the Police Station Last Evening in Response to Advertisement Inserted by Chief of Police Appleby in the columns of the local newspapers.

Mrs. Mamie Wheelock, who resides on North Franklin street, appeared at the station last evening and returned the two jeweled rings valued at $250, which were left in the ladies toilet room of the Northwestern depot on May 25. According to the story she told the officers, her daughter Edna, who was defendant in a kidnapping action, which was dismissed in municipal court this week, and a friend named Miss Lawrence found the jewelry on the wash-stand and after waiting in vain for someone to appear on the scene and lay claim to them, finally divided the spoils and returned to their homes. Both young women are employed in a local meat tobacco warehouse and the "kidnappers" attracted considerable attention among their associates. Mrs. Wheelock also took notice of the name her daughter was wearing and directed her attention to the newspaper articles. The rings belonged to Mrs. P. S. Larson, wife of a prominent Beloit jeweler, and the latter came last evening, claimed the property, and rewarded the girls. She expressed the hope that his name would not get into the papers. That a jeweler's wife of all persons should be so careless as to leave jewelry in such a place and never miss it until she was half way home was a state of affairs almost too preposterous and fanciful to exist within the realm of reality.

You Will Need an Oil Stove

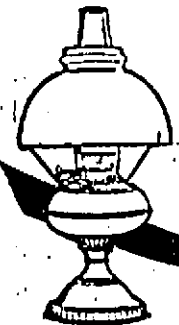

When warm days and the kitchen fire make cooking a burden—then is the time to try a New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove.

Marvelous how this stove does away with kitchen discomforts—how cool it keeps the room in comparison with conditions when the coal fire was burning. The quick concentrated heat of the

NEW PERFECTION Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove

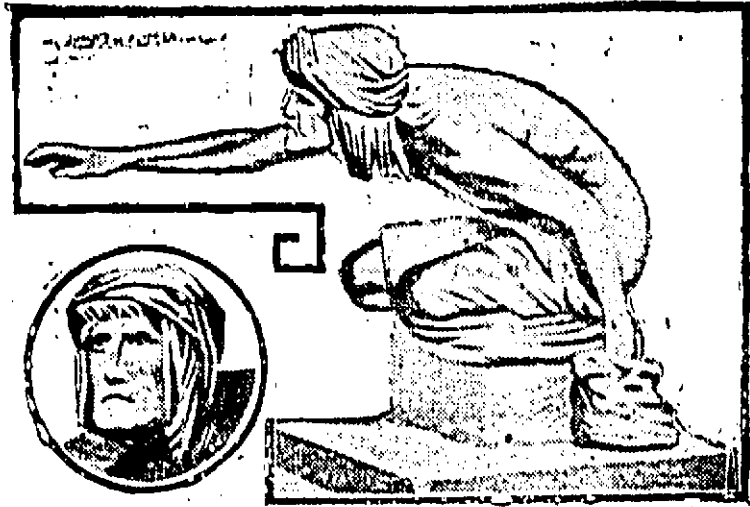

goes directly to boil the kettle or bake the bread, and none is diffused about the room to overheat it. Thus using the "New Perfection" is real kitchen comfort. Made in three sizes and fully warranted. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

"LITTLE JOURNEYS TO THE TOMBS OF AMERICAN PRESIDENTS."

In the beautiful rural cemetery at Albany, N. Y., is the last resting place of Chester A. Arthur, the twenty-first president of the United States. The monument marking the grave is called "The Angel of Sorrow," and is one of the most beautiful in the country. It consists of an angel of heroic size in bronze placing a palm leaf upon a sarcophagus which is of granite.

The figure is that of a woman and may be remembered by New York visitors of art galleries since it was shown by the American Art association a few years ago. It was designed by Ephraim Kestner of New York and was set up in 1880. It is the masterpiece of this sculptor.

Directly in back of the monument is a casket-shaped stone marking the grave of President Arthur's wife. Upon the lid of the casket is this inscription: "Here lies the body of Ellen Lewis Hendon, wife of Chester A. Arthur—born at Chippewa, Va., August 10, 1837; died at New York, January 12, 1880." On the handsome memorial over the president's grave are the words: "Chester A. Arthur, twenty-first president of the United States, born October 5, 1829; died November 18, 1886." The president's father, the Rev. W. Arthur, and other members of the family are also buried at Albany.

Sophy & Kravonia

by

ANTHONY HOPE

Author of "The Prisoner of Zenda"

Copyright, 1905, Anthony Hope Hawkins

"The" reverie before breaking. It had been none too pleasant. In it memories of a place with present difficulties. Some third or fourth of Lady Meg's hundred pound note. Necessity had forced the use of the money at any cost to pride. When all was gone Sophy would have to depend on what is so often a last and so often a vain refuge—the lending of French. It was the only subject which she could claim to teach. Verily, it was a poor prospect. It was better to look at the officers and the ladies than to think of it—aye, better than to think of Captain Markart and of what lay in the past. With her strong will she strove to steel herself alike against recollection and against apprehension.

"The" case was nearly deserted. The hour was too early for the citizens, and Sophy's own chocolate had been merely an excuse to sit down. Yet presently a young officer in a Hussar uniform stopped his horse opposite the door and, giving over the reins to an orderly who attended him, alighted. Tall and fair, with a pleasant, open face, he wore his tunic with a flashing air and addressed a delicate upturned mustache as he glanced around, choosing his seat. The next moment he advanced toward Sophy. Giving her a polite salute, he indicated a little table next to hers.

"Mademoiselle, permit me," he asked. "She has, I fear, forgotten, but I have the honor to be an acquaintance of hers."

"I remember," smiled Sophy. "Captain Markart? We met at Mme. Zerkovitch's."

"Oh, that's pleasant of you!" he cried. "I have been long forgotten. But I fear you remember me only because I sang so badly."

"I remember best that you said you wanted to go and help France, but your general wouldn't let you."

"Ah, I know why you remember that—you especially! Forgive me. Our friend Marie Zerkovitch told me. He turned away for a moment to give an order to the waiter."

"What's going on today?" asked Sophy. "Where's everybody going?"

"Why, you are a stranger, mademoiselle!" he laughed. "It's the king's name day, and we all go and congratulate him."

"Is that it? Are you going?"

"Certainly. In attendance of my general—General Stenovic. My lodgings are near here, his house at the other end of the boulevard, so he gave me leave to meet him here. I thought I would come early and fortify myself a little for the ordeal. To mademoiselle's good health!" He looked at her with openly admiring eyes, to which tribute Sophy responded a lazy, unembarrassed smile. She leaned her chin in her hand, turning her right cheek toward him. Sophy was never disdainful, never neglectful. Her pose now was good.

"What sort of a man is the king?" she asked.

"The king is most emphatically a very good sort of fellow—a very good old fellow. I only wish his very good like him! The prince is a Tartar. His he gone by yet?"

"I don't think so. I suppose he'd have an escort, wouldn't he? I don't know him by sight yet. Does everybody call the king a good fellow?"

"Some people are so extremely right- minded," pleaded Markart ruefully. "And anyhow, he has reformed now."

"Because he's old?"

"Fifty-nine. Is that so very old? No; I rather attribute it to your discretion, I hope? I'm putting my fortunes in your hands," said Mme. de Contesse.

"The Countess Ehrenburg? Marie has told me something about her."

"It's on his promotion, too," continued the loquacious and irreverent captain as he resumed his seat. "They want a big fish for him—something German, with a resounding name. Poor fellow!"

"Well, it's his duty," said Sophy. "Somebody who'll keep the countess in order, eh?" smiled Markart, twirling his mustache. "That's about the size of it, I expect, though naturally the general doesn't show me his hand. I only tell you common gossip."

"I tell you what," he said, with an engaging candor, "I believe that somehow the general makes me chatter just to the extent he wishes me to and then stops me. I don't know how he does it. It's quite unconscious on my part. I seem to say just what I like."

"They laughed together over this puzzle. 'You mean General Stenovic?' asked Sophy.

"Yes, General Stenovic. Ah, here he is!" He sprang up again and made a low bow to Sophy. "Au revoir, mademoiselle. A thousand thanks!"

He saluted her and hurried to the side of the pavement. General Stenovic rode up, with two orderlies behind him. Saluting again, Markart mounted his horse. The general brought him to a stand and waited the necessary moment or two with a good humored smile. His eyes wandered from the young officer to the presumable cause of his lack of vigilance. Sophy felt the glance rest on her face. In her turn, she saw a stout, stumpy figure clad in a rather ugly drab green uniform, and a heavy, olive tinted face adorned with a black mustache and a stubby gray beard. General Stenovic, president of the council of ministers, was not an imposing personage to the outward view. But Sophy returned the regard of his prominent pale blue eyes, which stared oddly with the complexion of his face, with vivid attention. The general rode on, Markart following, but turning in his saddle to salute once more and to wave his hand in friendly farewell.

For the first time since her arrival in Slavonia Sophy was conscious of a stir of excitement. Life had been dull and heavy. The mind had enjoyed little food save the diet of memories. Today she seemed to be brought into sight of living interests again. They were far off, but they were there. Markart's talk had made a link between them and her. She sat on for a long while, watching the junction of the stream and the broad current which flowed onward past the palace on its long journey to the sea. Then she rose with a sigh. The time drew near for a French lesson. Marie Zerkovitch had already got her two pupils.

This day Sophy began the diary. The first entry is dated that afternoon. Her presence—or presentment—was, not at fault. From today onwards, moved fast, and she was strangely caught up in the revolutions of the wheel.

Chapter Eleven

It was the evening of the king's name day. There was a banquet at the palace, and the lights in the windows twinkled in sympathetic response to the illuminations which blazed on the public buildings and principal residences of Slavonia. Every where feasting and revelry filled the night. The restaurant of the Hotel de Paris was crowded, every seat on its terrace occupied. The old lion of the Golden Lion, opposite the barracks, the square of St. Michael, a favorite resort of the officers of the garrison, had a trade no less good. Humbler hostilities were full of private soldiers and the streets themselves of revelers, male and female, military and civil, honest and dishonest, drunk and sober. Slavonia had given itself up to a frolic, for first, a fete is a fete, no matter what its origin; second, King Alexis was the most popular man in his dominions, though he never did a decent day's work for them; last, there is often no better way to show how much you hate one man than by making a disproportionate fuss about another. It was well understood that by thus honoring King Alexis, his monarch, by thus vouchsafing him the longest of reigns, Slavonia was giving a stinging back-butt to Prince Sergius, the titular prince and commandant. You would see the difference when the prince's day came round. When General Stenovic pointed to the lights gleaming across the Krath from the palace windows and congratulated the royal highness on the splendid popularity of the reigning house the prince's smile may well have been ironical.

"I shall go and see all this merit for myself at close quarters presently, general," he said. "I think the commandant had best return to the city tonight as early as the king will allow."

"An admirable devotion, to duty,"

Days Are Lost

Indigestion spoils many a day that can be saved with Kodol. When the stomach fails, let Kodol do the digesting. That's all that is necessary, and more than anything else can do. See our guarantee.

It is wrong to suffer from indigestion, when Kodol means instant relief. Please let it digest your food.

If your ankle was lame you would aid it. If the body was weak you would rest it. It is far more important to rest the weak stomach.

Not by dieting, for that means partial starvation. The body requires many sorts of food. To cut out some elements means to rob some parts. But let Kodol, for a little time, do what the stomach can't do. Then see how quickly the stomach recovers.

Undigested food grows hard, and irritates the stomach lining. It causes inflammation—some-times ulceration. That is the source of the pain. It also ferments and forms gas. It decays and breeds germs. And these germs load the blood with their poisons. That leads to serious troubles.

Don't think that the stomach can ever get strong while those conditions continue.

Kodol consists of all the digestive elements, in highly concentrated form. It digests all sorts of food, and completely. It does all that the healthiest stomach can do.

Pepsin is part of it, but pepsin digests albumen only. Starch requires something else, fat something else. Kodol combines all that is needed.

Digesters which depend solely on pepsin do only what pepsin does. They are but half-way treatments. Other elements are just as essential, and they must be in liquid form.

That is why Kodol is liquid. And, because it is liquid, like the digestive juices, its action is instant. It even begins in the mouth—by increasing the flow of saliva.

The action of Kodol can be easily proved, either in the stomach or out of it.

Eat what you need of the food that you want, and take Kodol. Note the absence of pain and gas. You know to a certainty that the food is digesting.

Or you can see it digest food in a test tube, under proper conditions. In these laboratory tests, Kodol digests every whit of the food, just as it does in the stomach. All other digesters digest but part of the food, just as they do in the stomach.

Don't employ half-way measures, for the stomach needs complete relief. Any undigested food will, through irritation, interfere with the cure. Nothing but Kodol does all that must be done. No other digester can digest all foods.

Our Guarantee.

We ask you to prove these statements at our risk. Buy a dollar bottle of Kodol, and ask for the signed guarantee. If the results are not as claimed, take the empty bottle back with the warrant, and your druggist will return your money.

This offer applies to the large bottle only, and to but one in a family. This is sufficient to prove how much Kodol means to you.

If you need relief, won't you learn how to get it on such a fair offer that?

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of F. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1.00 bottle contains 2½ times as much as the 50c bottle.
